Are you doing enough to protect your employees?

Employers have the same responsibilities towards staff who work alone as they have to all workers. Lone workers may be subject to additional risks, especially if they work outside normal hours or visit people in their homes.

The new Personal Tracking Solution from VeriLocation is a powerful business tool with the added security of real-time GPS tracking, viewable as locations down to street level, anywhere in the world from a web browser.

The system works automatically in the background on BlackBerry and Pocket PC devices with built-in GPS chip sets, such as BlackBerry 8800, 8820, 8310 or 02 XDA Orbit. Your team can work efficiently and effectively out of the office, safe in the knowledge that they can raise the alarm or be traced if a problem arises. Whichever device you choose, it is compact, discreet and easy to use – a single combined mobile phone and e-mail device.

Additional benefits:

- >> Up to 36 hour battery power
- >> Normal accuracy of 10 metres anywhere in the world
- >> Panic alarm option which, when activated, transfers through to a manned 24 hour monitoring station (additional charge)
- >> Geofence alerts – to notify colleagues when a worker has arrived or departed from a specific location
- >> User can choose 5, 2 or 1 minute tracking
- >> Based on VeriLocation's proven web-based GPS tracking software

More about

Lone Workers

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) describes lone workers as “those who work by themselves without close or direct supervision.” This doesn’t necessarily mean that they work by themselves all the time, but spend a large proportion of their time without close interaction with colleagues. Lone workers may be at greater risk of violence or accidents.

Lone workers include people who:

- >> Work away from their base, e.g. sales people, service engineers
- >> Visit other people in their homes, e.g. health care workers, social services
- >> Work outside in the community,
e.g. environmental officers,
probation officers
- >> Work outside normal hours or are the only person on the premises, e.g. shift or flexi-time workers,
security workers

Reducing risk

Improving communication helps to reduce risks and may reduce the feeling of vulnerability. VeriLocation’s Personal Tracking Solution provides:

- >> A system for communicating back to base – using telephone, text or email
- >> A panic alarm to be used in case of emergency
- >> The facility to notify others when the worker has reached a specific location or returned home

The GPS tracking software runs in the background of a single, small and compact PDA providing a discreet and convenient solution.
